MOTION

The Los Angeles Department of General Services (GSD) provides a City's core internal service and helps keep municipal government operations functioning. GSD manages and maintains City-owned facilities and properties, including office buildings, Animal Service facilities, libraries, recreation facilities, and other public buildings. Its responsibilities include building maintenance, repairs, custodial services, facility management, real estate services, energy management, and other property-related functions. GSD also supports City departments with procurement, fleet and vehicle services, and various administrative and operational needs.

GSD also plays an important role in managing the City's physical assets and ensuring that facilities are safe, functional, and available for public services. The department works with individual City departments on facility improvements, construction and renovation projects, property acquisition and leasing, and the management of City owned and occupied spaces. In addition, GSD provides centralized services that allow individual departments to focus on their primary missions while relying on a Citywide department for buildings, equipment, property, and other operational infrastructure.

GSD faces ongoing challenges in keeping pace with the City's growing and increasingly complex operational needs. The department is responsible for maintaining a large and aging portfolio of City facilities and infrastructure while also supporting demands for building repairs, custodial services, security, fleet operations, real estate, energy management, and facility improvements. Limited staffing, competing priorities, aging facilities, procurement and contracting timelines, and the need to coordinate with numerous City departments can make it difficult to respond quickly to emerging problems. These challenges can result in building maintenance backlogs, delayed projects, and longer response times, particularly when urgent needs compete with planned capital improvements and routine operations.

I THEREFORE MOVE that Council DIRECTS the General Services Department (GSD) to report on how they prioritize building maintenance requests from departments and the timeline for completing the work. They should also include recommendations for improving the turnaround time for work orders, and further utilization of contracted vendors for certain services.

HOMELESSNESS AND HEALTH

People experiencing homelessness (PEH) often face significant physical and behavioral health challenges, including mental illness and substance use disorders, that require connections to appropriate medical care and supportive services. Addressing these needs is an important component of helping individuals experiencing homelessness achieve stability and successfully transition into interim and permanent housing.

Under state law, public mental health and substance use disorder services in the City of Los Angeles are administered by the County of Los Angeles through its Department of Mental Health and Department of Public Health. The City has no direct control over how, where, or at what scale those services are deployed within its boundaries, and the need among PEH in the City continues to exceed the services available. The City cannot rely on the County alone to meet this need and must identify other ways to bring behavioral health services directly into the City.

Federally funded clinics offer one such pathway. Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), including Health Care for the Homeless grantees funded under Section 330(h) of the Public Health Service Act, FQHC Look-Alikes, and Certified Community Behavioral Health Clinics (CCBHCs) supported by the federal Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, already operate in Los Angeles. These clinics receive federal grant funding and enhanced Medi-Cal and Medicare reimbursement, are required to serve patients regardless of ability to pay, and commonly provide integrated primary care, mental health care, and substance use disorder treatment, including medications for addiction treatment.

Because these clinics draw on federal funding and reimbursement, the City can partner with them directly. Options may include co-locating clinic services at City-funded interim and permanent housing sites, deploying mobile clinics and street medicine teams, making City-owned property available for new or satellite clinic sites, and other partnership models such as supporting clinic applications for federal funding. Coordinated approaches would allow the City to pair mental health, addiction, and crisis services with homelessness programs without relying solely on County capacity.

The City of Berkeley and the Tri-City Mental Health Authority, which serves the cities of Pomona, Claremont, and La Verne, operate as local mental health authorities under state law. The City should understand whether a similar structure is legally available to it.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the Council instruct the City Administrative Officer and the Chief Legislative Analyst, with assistance from the City Attorney, the Los Angeles Housing Department, and other relevant departments, to report on a strategy for pursuing federal funding and utilizing federally funded clinics to meet the mental health, substance use disorder, and crisis care needs of people experiencing homelessness in the City, including:

1. An inventory of federally funded clinics operating in or serving the City, including FQHCs, Health Care for the Homeless grantees, FQHC Look-Alikes, and CCBHCs, with their service sites, capacity, and the behavioral health services each provides to PEH;

OCT 14 2026

2. The scope of mental health, substance use disorder, and crisis services these clinics can provide and bill for through federal grants, Medi-Cal, and Medicare independent of County contracts, and any services that remain under the County's exclusive authority;
3. Options for the City to partner directly with existing clinics;
4. State or federal funding opportunities available to expand clinic capacity in the City and whether the City or a City-created entity could qualify for state or federal health center funding;
5. Cost estimates for a pilot program placing clinic services at City homelessness program sites; and
6. The City's legal authority to establish its own behavioral health department or jurisdiction, similar to the City of Berkeley and the Tri-City Mental Health Authority.

I FURTHER MOVE that the Council instruct the City Administrative Officer, with assistance from the Chief Legislative Analyst and the City Attorney, to report on options to establish dedicated healthcare expertise to support the City's homelessness programs and policies, including through in-house staff and consulting services, with expertise in healthcare systems, policy, financing, and service delivery.

I FURTHER MOVE that the Council instruct the City Administrative Officer, with assistance from the Chief Legislative Analyst, to identify and evaluate any other funding options available to support mental health, substance use disorder, and healthcare services for people experiencing homelessness in the City, including federal, state, County, and philanthropic sources.

MOTION

The 2025-2026 Los Angeles County Civil Grand Jury found that household membership at the Los Angeles Zoo declined 23% in less than one year, that insufficient funding and deferred maintenance have led to multiple exhibit closures and have left much of the Zoo's exhibits and structures "tired and worn." The Civil Grand Jury urged the City to transition the Zoo to a public-private operating model in order to attract the funding and expertise needed to modernize and sustain it.

Current scientific research establishes that elephants are highly intelligent, deeply social animals that naturally travel great distances and have complex physical, psychological and social needs that cannot be adequately met in urban zoo environments. Against this backdrop, 43 zoos across the nation have closed their elephant exhibits in recent years.

There is an alternative. State-of-the-art immersive technology can now create life-size, three-dimensional virtual animals and habitats through holographic projection and interactive environments, bringing elephants and their natural habitats vividly to life without live-animal confinement, and a ticketed pilot at the Australian Museum in Sydney, Australia attracted more than 25,000 visitors and, according to the technology provider, generated approximately A$550,000 – about US$390,000 – in just 42 days, demonstrating substantial public interest and revenue potential.

Los Angeles is a global capital of storytelling, filmmaking, and visual effects, and, with no elephants currently at the Los Angeles Zoo, it is uniquely positioned to draw upon those strengths to create an immersive virtual elephant experience at a city-operated zoo as a humane and educational alternative to exhibiting live elephants, while giving children and families meaningful opportunities to experience, understand, and learn about these magnificent creatures and their natural habitat;

Moreover, the 2028 Olympic and Paralympic Games will place Los Angeles at the center of worldwide attention, making this an ideal moment to launch this pioneering attraction – potentially the first of its kind within any city-operated zoo – and reinforce Los Angeles's reputation as a national leader in creative and compassionate innovation;

I THEREFORE MOVE that the Council instruct the City Administrative Officer and Chief Legislative Analyst, with the assistance of the Zoo Department, to report within 60 days with a feasibility and implementation plan, including the specific actions required to move the project forward, for creating a dedicated immersive virtual elephant experience at the Los Angeles Zoo, with the goal of opening the exhibit in time for the 2028 Olympic and Paralympic Games;

I FURTHER MOVE that the Report be developed through outreach to qualified immersive-technology companies, elephant-welfare experts, nonprofit and philanthropic organizations and individuals, potential sponsors and private partners, and interested members of the public, including a 30-day period for written submissions commencing no later than 10 days after adoption of this Motion, without extending the 60-day reporting deadline; and that it evaluate preliminary capital and operating costs, public-private partnership and financing options, potential funding sources that would minimize or avoid reliance on the General Fund, and a schedule for completion before the 2028 games;

ARTS, PARKS, & CITY FACILITIES

Existing sections of the LA River Greenway stitch together Studio City from Fulton Avenue to Radford Avenue. Built over time, and operated and maintained by different agencies, this green network serves as a vital conduit and respite for Studio City. Forthcoming investments in the completion of the LARiverWay biking/walking path in this area through the design and construction of Segment 8 of the LARiverWay will develop the opposite bank of the Los Angeles River from the existing Greenway segments. The difference between the two should be thought of a slower-paced more pedestrian-focused side (the LA River Greenway), and a slightly faster-paced bicycle-focused, but pedestrian friendly, side (The LARiverWay) – as described in various LA River planning documents over the years.

Originally constructed in 2008 and managed by the Department of Recreation and Parks (RAP), the Studio City LA River Greenway segment between Whitsett Avenue and Laurel Canyon Boulevard is in need of improvements and refurbishments. These improvements would increase public safety, encourage pedestrian traffic, improve the general environment, and create better connections to Ventura Boulevard and adjacent commercial properties. With the Bureau of Engineering beginning the design process for Segment 8 of the LARiverWay, RAP working on new solar lighting, and Congress appropriating $250,000 in Community Project funding for the Studio City LA River Greenway, RAP should now initiate a capital project and secure authorization to accept the federal funds.

Melanie Winter, dedicated much of her life to the Los Angeles River – serving as Executive Director of Friends of the Los Angeles River, and founding and leading the River Project. Melanie was also a nearby Studio City resident who helped open both the LA River Greenway in Studio City and the adjacent Valleyheart Greenway. Following her passing last year, this segment of the LA River Greenway should be named in her memory and offer opportunities for the public to learn more about her work.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Council REQUEST the Department of Recreation and Parks to initiate a capital project with associated planning, outreach, design, pre-construction, and construction phases for the LA River Greenway Studio City Habitat Restoration, Beautification, and Safety Project, with a project area along the south bank of the Los Angeles River from Laurel Canyon Boulevard westwards to Whitsett Avenue, and a project scope of civil and landscaping improvements to help increase connectivity, access, and public safety along this section of the LA RiverWay.

I FURTHER MOVE that the City Council AUTHORIZE the Department of Recreation and Parks to accept $250,000 in Federal Community Project Funding for the LA River Greenway Studio City Habitat Restoration, Beautification, and Safety Project and to undertake any and all steps necessary to execute and satisfy any funding agreements, and that the Department of Recreation and Park's Chief Accounting Employee, or designee, to accept and establish the necessary account and/or to appropriate funding received within "Recreation and Parks" Fund No. 205/89 to accept the Grant funds, and to make any technical corrections as necessary.

I FURTHER MOVE that the City Council REQUEST the Department of Recreation and Parks to incorporate honorary and interpretive signage to honor the memory and work of Studio City resident and River Project founder Melanie Winter into the LA River Greenway Studio City Habitat Restoration, Beautification, and Safety Project.

I FURTHER MOVE that the City Council REQUEST the Department of Recreation and Parks to officially rename the RAP-managed LA River Greenway, along the south bank of the Los Angeles River from Whitsett Avenue east to Laurel Canyon Boulevard, as the "Melanie Winter Studio City LA River Greenway".

MOTION BUDGET & FINANCE

Filming in the City of Los Angeles remains the economic and cultural foundation of the region's identity. The Keep Hollywood Home initiative has made meaningful progress: streamlining permitting, reducing fees at City facilities, establishing the micro-shoot permit and LA Creator Pass, creating the Keep Hollywood Home Seed Fund, and directing modernization of the Municipal Code. These reforms reduce cost and improve the process. They do not yet resolve the challenge of neighborhood-level unpredictability — the condition most consistently cited by location managers, independent producers, and commercial directors as a reason to choose a competing jurisdiction over Los Angeles.

Business Improvement Districts, Promise Zones, and Opportunity Zones have demonstrated that geographically-bounded designations can resolve this problem by pre-negotiating conditions, concentrating resources, and signaling clearly to the private sector that a defined area is open for investment. The City can apply the same model to production by establishing a pilot Film Friendly Zone program. Under the proposed program, each Council District would be able to designate one or more geographic areas, sized and scoped at the Councilmember's discretion, where City-controlled filming fees are waived or reduced, standard conditions are pre-negotiated with affected neighborhood councils, and permit turnaround is guaranteed. The proposed East Valley Creative Opportunity Zone pilot within Council District 2 can serve as a model for the program.

I THEREFORE MOVE that the City Council instruct the Chief Legislative Analyst, in coordination the Board of Public Works, Police Department, Fire Department, Department of Transportation, Department of Recreation and Parks, and any other other departments involved in City film permitting, in consultation with the City Attorney and FilmLA, to prepare a report with recommendations within 90 days for a proposed Film Friendly Zone structure that includes the following potential elements:

- Zone Designation: Each Council District may designate one or more Film Friendly Zones within its boundaries following consultation with affected neighborhood councils, business improvement districts, and community stakeholders, and subject to full Council approval;
 - Zones may vary in size, scope, and benefit levels at the designating Councilmember's discretion;
 - Designated zones will be formally established by ordinance, remaining active for one year from passage unless renewed through subsequent legislative action.
- Permit Fee Waivers: All City filming fees shall be fully waived for creative activity that does not require exclusive use of the public right-of-way, traffic control, pyrotechnics, drone activity requiring a type 107 license waiver, simulated weapons, hazardous effects, amplified sound during restricted hours, or dedicated public-safety staffing;
 - For productions that do require street closures, traffic control, or departmental staffing, all applicable City fees shall be reduced by no less than 50 percent, unless a greater reduction is feasible, as determined by the City Department;
 - A guaranteed permit issuance timeline of no more than five business days administered through FilmLA without creation of new permit categories.
